Fund Commentary

Namibia's annual inflation kept ticking up, coming at 4.1% for June, increasing from the 2.2% reported in June 2020, and from the 3.8% reported in May 2021. South African annual headline inflation was 4.9% for June 2021. US treasury yields strengthened significantly in July, with 10-year yields consolidating from 1.46% to 1.18% as inflation is expected to level out. South African Bonds and the Rand could not benefit from the global risk-on sentiment, as the social unrest in during July weighed on foreign flows. Comments from the SARB MPC point towards a slower rate normalisation and the Jibar curve has flattened during the latter part of July, with the 12-month reducing as much as 20bps. Namibian Treasury-Bill and commercial bank rates have increased and price favourable versus their South African counterparts.

Given current rising reinvestment rates, we expect the yield to gradually pick up during second half of the year.

Collective Investment Schemes in Securities (unit trusts) are generally medium to long term investments. The value of participatory interests (units) may go down as well as up and past performance is not necessarily a guide to the future. Unit Trust prices are calculated on a net asset value basis, which is the total capital value invested including any income accrual and less any permissible deductions from the portfolio divided by the number of units in issue. Income accruals are made daily and paid out monthly. Purchase and repurchase requests may be received by the manager by 10h00 each business day. Permissible deductions may include management fees, brokerage, NAMFISA levies, auditor's fees, bank charges, trustee fees and RSC levies. A schedule of fees and charges is available on request from Ashburton Unit Trust Management Company. Commission and incentives may be paid and if so, would be included in the overall costs. The FNB Namibia Corporate Fund is managed by Ashburton Unit Trust Management Company Ltd (89/485), a NAMFISA registered (25/9/5/3) Unit Trust Management Company.
